VERSE 2

When I take a walk around this city...I know there's still so much to see So many things for me to observe... some bring back memories of how it used to [be]
[BE...] just the two of us, with work and TV and bills to pay our lives changed for the best, but I still look back so fondly at yesterday

And we used to walk around this city, going everywhere like we owned the place
There was nobody listening, nobody watching, everybody gave us our own space
And we used to get the party started, and we used to buy our friends a drink
And the world revolved around the two of us, and it all passed by us in a blink!

And the time is moving faster now, and I know we've still got so much to do
But a little bit older, a little bit slower...it's all just a part of growing old with you
